

Position: Head Coach

About the Position

The Head Coach is responsible for creating the curriculum for their respective sport and overseeing the day to day implementation of their program. Head Coaches play a key role in creating and defining each of the Core Sports programs at Next Level Day Camps and take a visible leadership role at camp. They serve as the primary instructors for teaching fundamental skills as well as more advanced strategy.

Head Coaches should be passionate about their sport and love working with young athletes ranging from grades 1 to 8. In addition to leading their athletic program, the Head Coach will work alongside Assistant Coaches and are in position to offer guidance and feedback. (Assistant Coaches may have the dual role of coaching as well as serving as a Counselor – chaperoning, supervising and guiding campers through the day-to-day activities of the overall camp experience.

While Head Coaches have different responsibilities than the Counselors and non-sports staff, camp is a community and Head Coach involvement in general camp activities will go a long way towards building relationships with the campers and providing them with an experience that will set Next Level Day Camps apart from other camps. Head Coaches are expected to be at meals and support select non-sports programming.
